Applicant's response of February 14, 2007 electing Group I, claims 1-4, without traverse, is acknowledged. Applicant is requested to provide a translation of applicant supplied JP 412629. This prior art appears to be so pertinent as to what is claimed as to require translation.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The examiner is unsure of how many of the limitations found in the preamble of claim 1 are to be read into the claim by virtue of the references back to elements found in the preamble from the body of the claim. Please positively recite all elements that form the claimed combination after the word "comprising" (which is currently found on line 7 of claim 1). "Storage information that beforehand prescribes" is very cumbersome and vague language. Is there a clearer way that this can be stated?

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2003-314936 in view of Takeda, USP 6,414,843 (Figure 5).

JP '936 (particularly Figure 4) discloses all of the claimed subject matter except the "storage information that beforehand prescribes". That limitation appears to be met by the disclosure related to Figure 5 of Takeda. To have used a stored table of fan voltages for a range of temperatures to modulate the fan speed in JP '936 would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to John K. Ford whose telephone number is 571-272-4911. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30.
